AHCLSK331A

Comply with industry animal welfare requirements

Competency

This unit covers the process of complying with industry animal welfare requirements in the production of livestock and defines the standard required to: implement animal welfare practices; implement standard operating procedures; report problems that affect animal welfare.

Training

This unit applies to compliance with industry animal welfare requirements and is carried out independently under workplace policies and requirements.
You will learn:

- Apply animal welfare practices
- Comply with standard operating procedures
- Report problems that affect animal welfare

This course comes with an on-line component. Within the on-line course are formative activities and summative assessments for you to complete. As you complete the formative activities your trainer will inform you as to whether these will be checked orally with you or submitted.

You must email the summative assessments to your assessor. The summative assessments are used to evaluate your knowledge and understanding within this unit of competency.

Assessment

The procedures used to assess competence in this unit involve the following assessment methodologies:

- Practical Assessment
- Oral Assessment
- Written Assessment
- Third Party Validation

Some of your assessment will be on-line.

Performance Criteria

| Element | Performance Criteria |
|---|---|
| 1. Apply animal welfare practices | 1.1 Elements of the industry animal welfare requirements are determined.1.2 Hazards to animal welfare are identified for work area according to enterprise guidelines and standard operating procedures.1.3 Critical control points for work area are determined according to workplace procedures.1.4 Record keeping on animal welfare is completed according to industry Quality Assurance (QA) requirements. |
| 2. Comply with standard operating procedures | 2.1 Standard operating procedures in respect to animal welfare requirements are implemented in accordance with enterprise requirements.2.2 Non-conformance is reported to supervisor according to enterprise/industry requirements.2.3 Corrective action taken in accordance with enterprise policy and procedures. |
| 3. Report problems that affect animal welfare | 3.1 Recognise potential or existing animal welfare problems.3.2 Identify instances of problems of animal welfare from specifications or work instructions.3.3 Report variation and potential problems to supervisor/manager according to enterprise guidelines. |

Information in this table was obtained from http://training.gov.au/Training/Details/AHCLSK331A. Please check this site for the latest information on this unit of competency.

Employability Skills

| Employability Skill | Industry/enterprise requirements for this qualification include |
|---|---|
| Communication | • Listening and understanding• Reading and interpreting workplace related documentation• Speaking clearly are directly• Applying numeracy skills to workplace requirements |
| Teamwork | • Working as an individual and a team member• Working with diverse individuals and groups• Applying knowledge of own role as a part of a team |
| Problem-solving | • Developing practical and creative solutions to workplace problems• Showing interdependence and initiative in identifying problems• Solving problems individually or in teams |
| Initiative and enterprise | • Adapting to new situations• Being creative in response to workplace challenges• Identifying opportunities that might not be obvious to others |
| Planning and organizing | • Monitoring and evaluating own performance• Taking responsibility at the appropriate level |
| Self-management | • Collecting analysing and organising information• Being appropriately resourceful |
| Learning | • Being open to learning, new ideas and techniques• Learning in a range of settings including informal learning |
| Technology | • Using technology and related workplace equipment• Using basic technology skills• Applying OHS knowledge when using technology |

Information in this table was obtained from http://training.gov.au/Training/Details/AHCLSK331A . Please check this site for the latest information on employability skills in this unit of competency.